GOSPEL

Reading of the Holy Gospel according to Saint Mark (6, 24-35)

When the crowd saw that neither Jesus nor his disciples were there, they themselves got into boats and came to Capernaum looking for Jesus.

And when they found him across the sea they said to him, "Rabbi, when did you get here?" Jesus answered them and said, "Amen, amen, I say to you, you are looking for me not because you saw signs but because you ate the loaves and were filled. Do not work for food that perishes but for the food that endures for eternal life, which the Son of Man will give you.

For on him the Father, God, has set his seal."

So they said to him, "What can we do to accomplish the works of God?"

Jesus answered and said to them, "This is the work of God, that you believe in the one he sent." So they said to him, "What sign can you do, that we may see and believe in you? What can you do? Our ancestors ate manna in the desert, as it is written: He gave them bread from heaven to eat."

So Jesus said to them, "Amen, amen, I say to you, it was not Moses who gave the bread from heaven; my Father gives you the true bread from heaven. For the bread of God is that which comes down from heaven and gives life to the world."

So they said to him, "Sir, give us this bread always." Jesus said to them, "I am the bread of life; whoever comes to me will never hunger, and whoever believes in me will never thirst."

REFLECTION

This week's Scripture passage begins in the people go to Capernaum intent on finding Jesus because he provided a very filling dinner the night before.

Their bellies are full but their hearts are empty of wonder. Their short-sighted effort to find him is from the wrong motivation. Understandable, I'd say—when you've been given a good meal, don't you hope for a return invite? And yet, this is our typical approach to our relationship with God: we seek him through our quick prayers for whatever it is we are in need for: a decision we need to make, a resource we lack, a struggle we need saving from; we want a full belly and we know God provides. But, we keep missing what Jesus is offering in abundance: a heart full of wonder, a much fuller "feast."

The flip side to our general approach, of course, is that we don't really know God's abundance and get caught in the same trap of thinking there is something we need to do to get it.

When we are full of wonder and growing spiritually, we begin to experience that the rhythm of spiritual meals, practices, and devotion to the Triune God morning, noon, and night is far from monotonous. We have an abundance of wisdom from the Christian tradition to change up the place settings for our spiritual meals without changing the menu. Our motivational starting point needs to find its way from our bellies to our hearts and souls so that we might understand and feast on the diverse spiritual nourishment that Jesus offers as the true bread of life.
