GOSPEL

Reading of the Holy Gospel according to Saint John (6, 41-51)

The Jews murmured about Jesus because he said, "I am the bread that came down from heaven," and they said, "Is this not Jesus, the son of Joseph? Do we not know his father and mother? Then how can he say, 'I have come down from heaven'?"

Jesus answered and said to them, "Stop murmuring among yourselves. No one can come to me unless the Father who sent me draw him, and I will raise him on the last day. It is written in the prophets: They shall all be taught by God. Everyone who listens to my Father and learns from him comes to me. Not that anyone has seen the Father except the one who is from God; he has seen the Father.

Amen, amen, I say to you, whoever believes has eternal life. I am the bread of life. Your ancestors ate the manna in the desert, but they died; this is the bread that comes down from heaven so that one may eat it and not die. I am the living bread that came down from heaven; whoever eats this bread will live forever; and the bread that I will give is my flesh for the life of the world."

REFLECTION

Today's Gospel sees a chasm of understanding between Christ and those who were listening to him. It is a chasm between human and divine perceptions.

His words, whilst mystical and difficult to grasp, go to the heart of the Christian way. Jesus is the nourishment that brings us into the kingdom as children of God. He sustains us, just as bread makes our bodies strong. But the nourishment is more than physical food: it is the lifeblood of our being and the key to our salvation.

We, too, can be those who do not understand. It isn't unhealthy to admit this. After all, we are chosen to hang our entire lives of faith upon truths that remain beyond our comprehension. That is what we call 'faith'.

Approaching the Altar ourselves, can we sometimes forget about the incomprehensible profundity of what we are about to do. To do so would be to act a little like those others in today's Gospel, those who couldn't adapt to a new, God-given mystery. Just as they couldn't wrap their heads around the reality of Christ the prophet, we may sometimes not be able to understand that Communion is an extraordinary personal encounter with Jesus.

We live in the midst of mystery and it is not one to be solved but to embrace and trust. We have the Gospels and Church tradition as our signposts along the way, and the everlasting truth of Christ's words: I am the living bread which has come down from heaven.

So, let us use today to renew our trust, renew our faith, in Christ which comes to us as our living bread. Let us use the gifts given to us to bridge that chasm of understanding, that bridge we call faith, and pray for our own faith and for that of the world.
